|        | Using mime, dance, music, poetry and striking visual imagery, a clown gathers a group of seven children, magically takes them on a journey from the majesty of the Creation to the mystery of the uncreation and ultimately teaches them that peace is our only choice. Young children may have difficulty following some parts of the presentation. Because of the unique multimedia approach, and a slightly dated feel, group leaders should preview the film for its suitability to the audience. |                            |          |                                       |        |                   |

|        | The story of Jesus based on the Gospel of Mark. The Story Keepers is an animated series about a group of first-century Christians facing persecution by the Roman Emperor Nero. They are determined to keep the stories of Jesus alive against all odds. The main heroes are Ben the baker, his wife Helena, and a group of children orphaned by the great fire of Rome. In telling the stories of Ben and his friends, viewers and readers learn more about Jesus of Nazareth as the two sets of stories are woven together, passing between the life of Jesus and those of underground Christians in first century Rome. The stories are engaging and well developed -- the Christians are brave, lively and humorous, while Nero and his soldiers are truly cruel and menacing. Developed by a Methodist minister in England, the series has won numerous awards and been widely endorsed by Anglicans, Catholics and other denominations |        |          |                            |           |                    |
